This figure is a topographic map of the northern part of the Ise Bay area, specifically focusing on the regions around the Toba River mouth and the northern coast of the bay. The map includes several towns and villages such as Hibiura, Kubo, Oyama, Kuro, Toba Station, Toba Port, and Ichinomiya. It shows detailed contour lines representing elevation changes, with labels for elevations like 100m, 200m, and 300m. Major roads are depicted in yellow, and smaller paths in red. The coastline is shown with blue lines, and various islands are labeled, including Aburajima, Sabijima, Yubajima, and Ichinomiya Island. The map also indicates the presence of fossilized tracks at Toba Port. A legend box in the bottom right corner provides information about the map's source and scale.
